

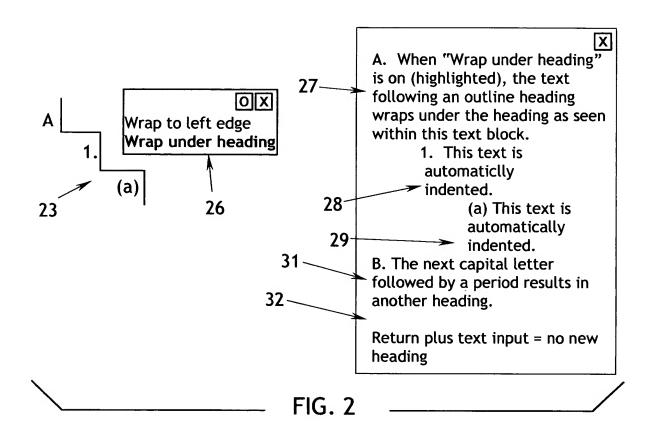

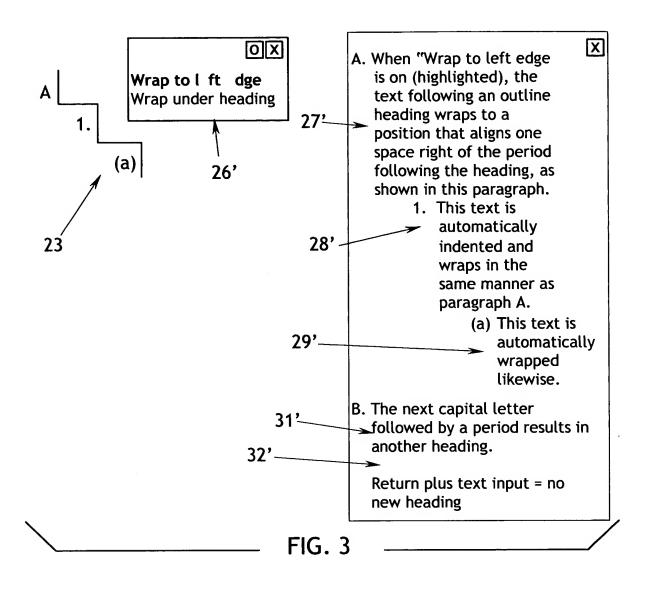

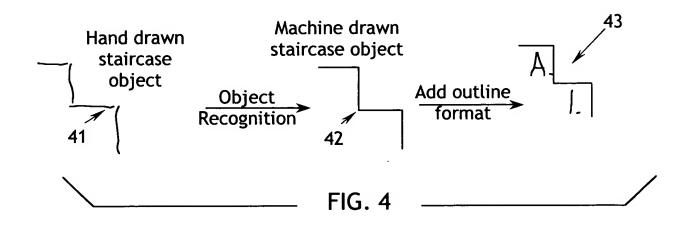

FIG. 1C

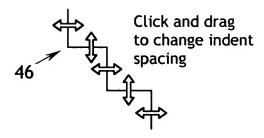

FIG. 6A

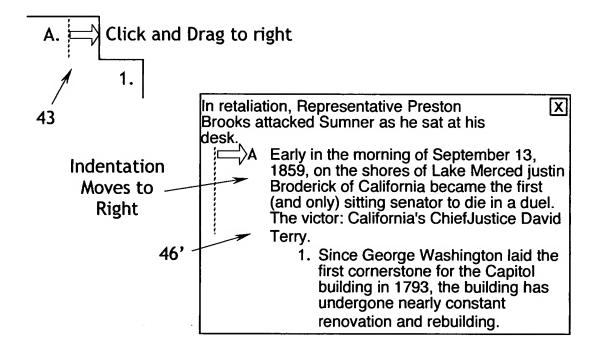

FIG. 6B

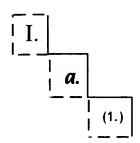

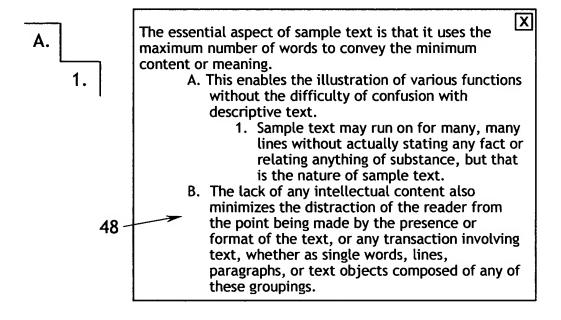

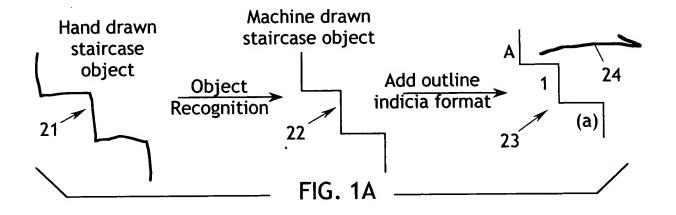

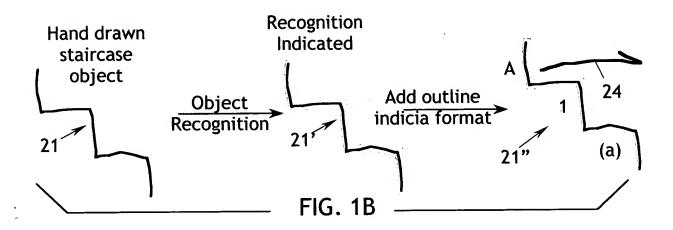

FIG. 7

X The essential aspect of sample text is that it uses the A. maximum number of words to convey the minimum content or meaning. A. This enables the illustration of various functions without the difficulty of confusion with descriptive text. 1. Sample text may run on for many, many lines without actually stating any fact or 47. relating anything of substance, but that is the nature of sample text. A. The lack of any intellectual content also minimizes the distraction of the reader from the point being made by the presence or format of the text, or any transaction involving text, whether as single words, lines, paragraphs, or text objects composed of any of these groupings.

FIG. 8A

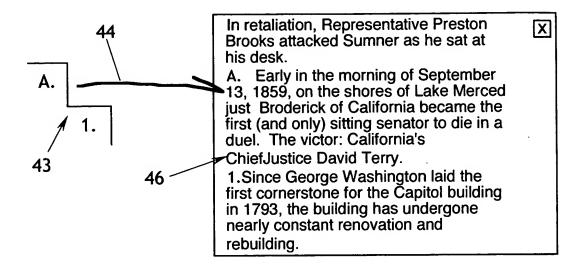

FIG. 5A

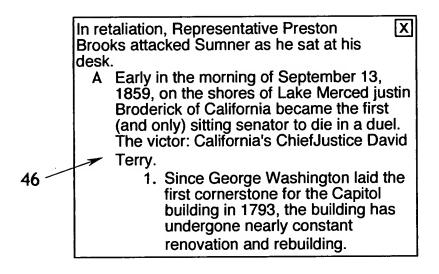

FIG. 5B

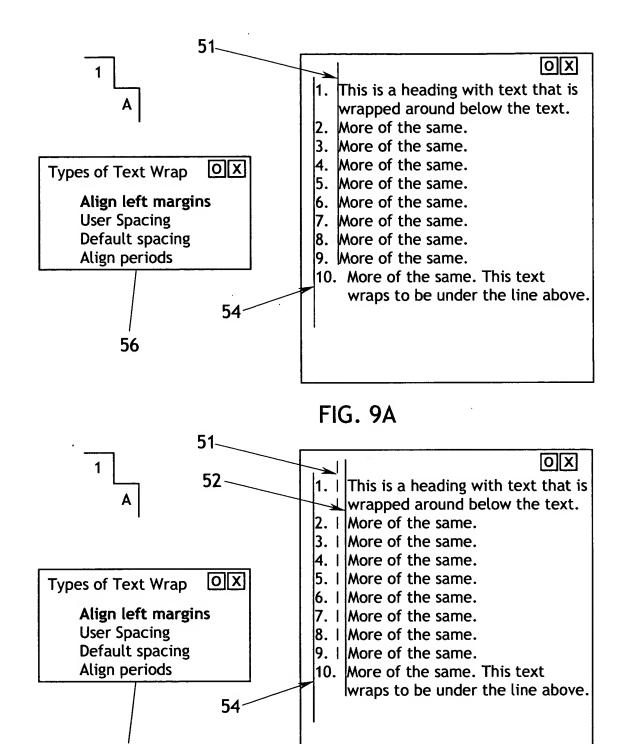

FIG. 9B

56

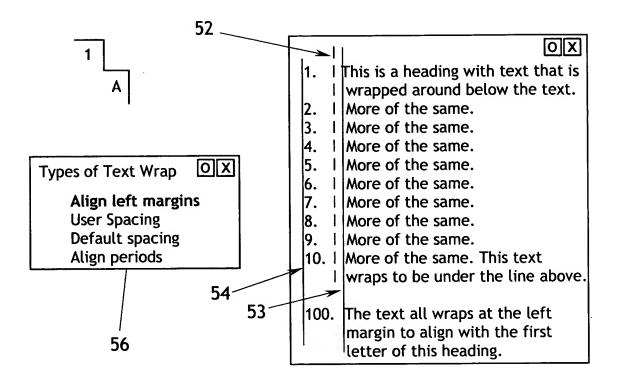

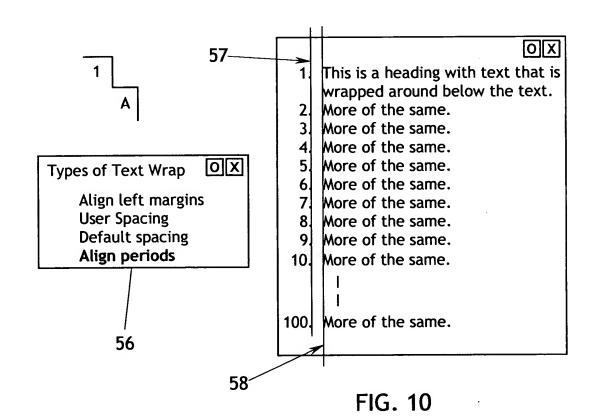

FIG. 9C

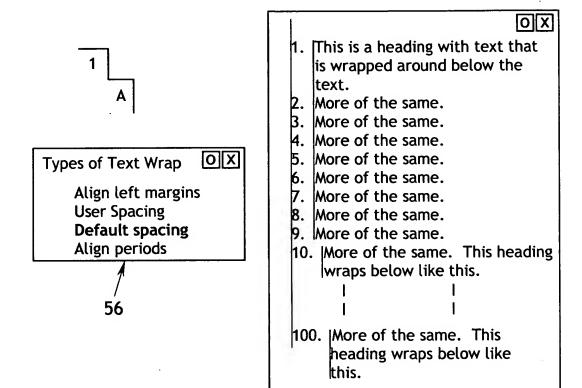

FIG. 11

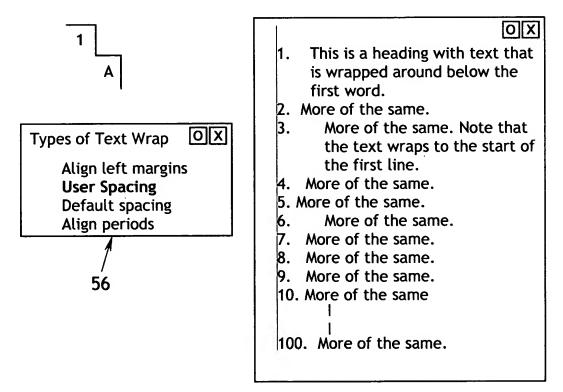

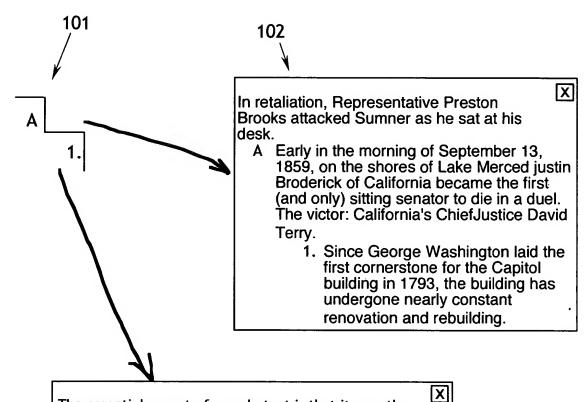

FIG. 12

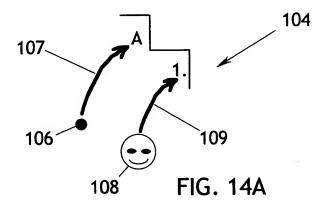

The essential aspect of sample text is that it uses the maximum number of words to convey the minimum content or meaning.

A. This enables the illustration of various functions without the difficulty of confusion with descriptive text.

1. Sample text may run on for many, many lines without actually stating any fact or relating anything of substance, but that is the nature of sample text.

B. The lack of any intellectual content also minimizes the distraction of the reader from the point being made by the presence or format of the text, or any transaction involving text, whether as single words, lines, paragraphs, or text objects composed of any of these groupings.

_103

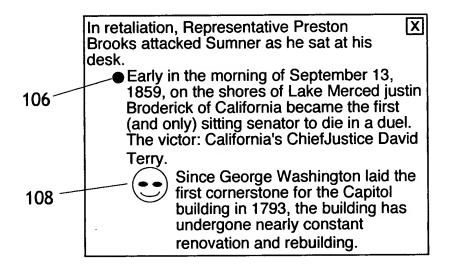

FIG. 14B

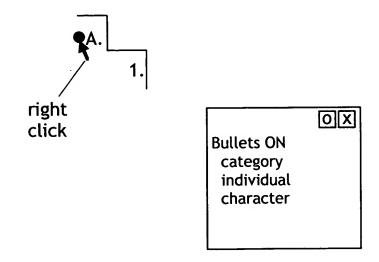

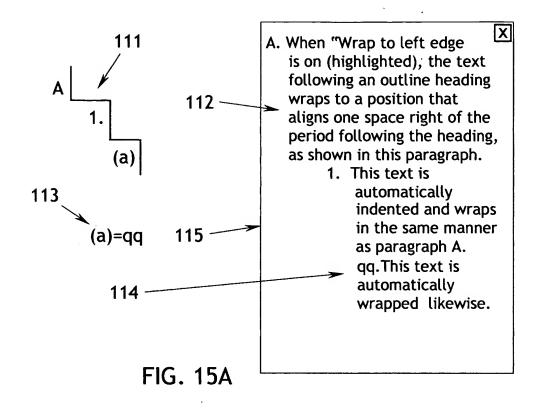

FIG. 14C

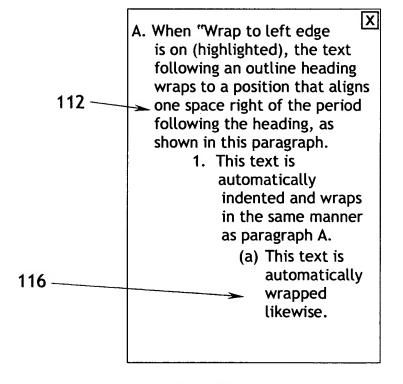

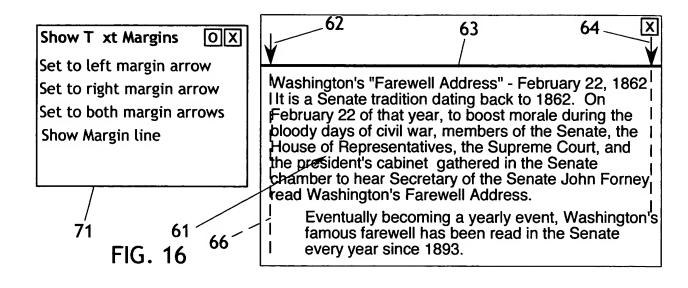

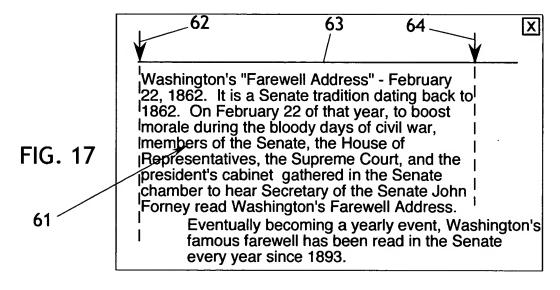

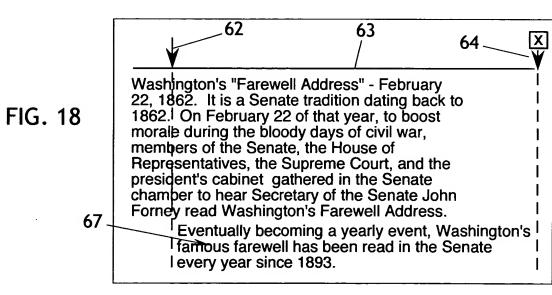

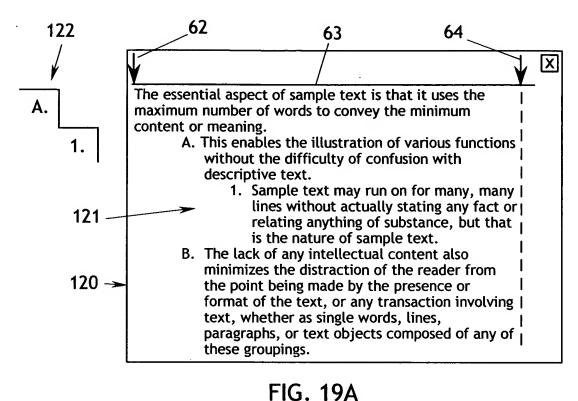

FIG. 15B

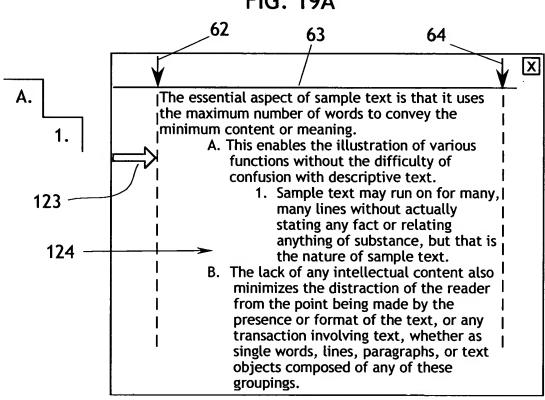

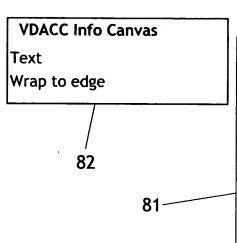

FIG. 19B

The essential aspect of sample text is that it uses the maximum number of words to convey the minimum content or meaning. This enables the illustration of various functions without the difficulty of confusion with descriptive text. Sample text may run on for many, many lines without actually stating any fact or relating anything of substance, but that is the nature of sample text. The lack of any intellectual content also minimizes the distraction of the reader from the point being made by the presence or format of the text, or any transaction involving text, whether as single words, lines, paragraphs, or text objects composed of any of these groupings.

FIG. 20

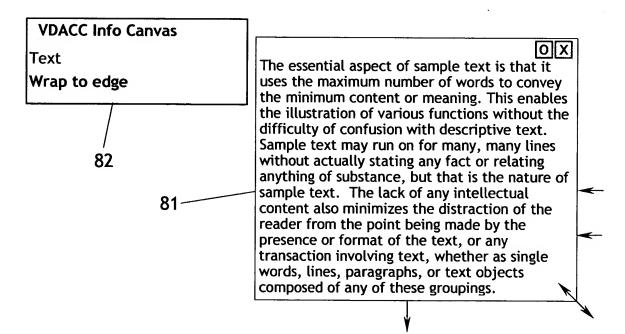

FIG. 21

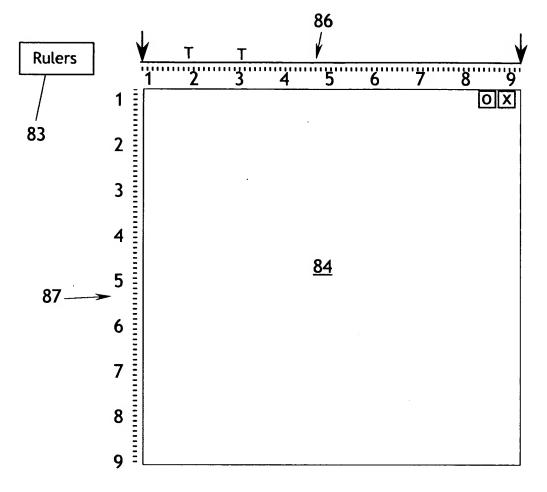

FIG. 22

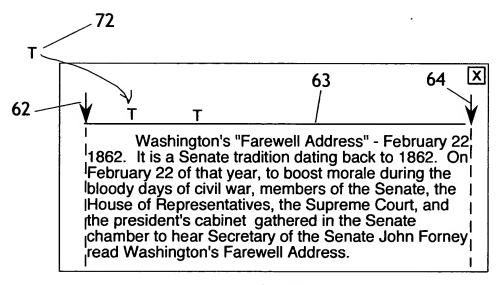

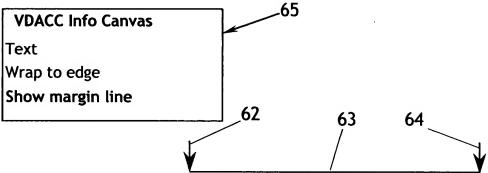

FIG. 23

The essential aspect of sample text is that it uses the maximum number of words to convey the minimum content or meaning. This enables the illustration of various functions without the difficulty of confusion with descriptive text. Sample text may run on for many, many lines without actually stating any fact or relating anything of substance, but that is the nature of sample text. The lack of any intellectual content also minimizes the distraction of the reader from the point being made by the presence or format of the text, or any transaction involving text, whether as single words, lines, paragraphs, or text objects composed of any of these groupings.